

I was appauled to hear that the FCC was considering implementing an proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law. It is our right as citizen to be entitled to our privacy and personal time. I have to admit it has been a relief not to have constant soliciting calls when I get home at night from the office. The Lord knows my phone at work rings enough to drive me crazy, when I go home it's nice to have some peace and quiet and not have our dinner interrupted w/ some stupid telemarketer!! Since we have been on this list our calls have dropped drastically from approximately 10 aweek to around 1. This was one of the best decisions I ever made for our family, having our name put on the Privacy List. So, I ask please do not take away our right to privacy and family time!
